Our Chapter is desperately in need of someone to manage our new website. If anyone has a basic knowledge of how to maintain an already set up website, please call Larry 607-988-6334. All needed codes and passwords are available. Please get involved so our new website can continue to help and inform the chapter members.

Safari Club International Foundation Testifies In Support of International Wildlife Conservation Funding

For Immediate Release: July 28th, 2011

Washington, DC –Safari Club International Foundation (SCIF) testified today in front of the U.S. House of Representatives Fisheries, Wildlife, Oceans and Insular Affairs Subcommittee of the House Natural Resources Committee in support of H.R. 50, the Multinational Species Conservation Funds Reauthorization Act of 2011 which would extend funding for important conservation projects until the year 2016.

“It was an honor to testify before the committee today, and I hope that our message was clear: that these projects are a needed investment for sustainable wildlife conservation,” said Joseph Hosmer, President of SCIF. “Support for international conservation projects is necessary for the continued growth of wildlife populations and stability of rural economies throughout many nations of Africa and Asia.”

As a result of the funding from the U.S. Congress, many grants, matching contributions, and in-kind funds have been donated to these programs from other organizations, host countries, and conservation groups. For example, as a result of the 2009 Congressional appropriation of $2 million for the African Elephant Conservation Fund, over $11.2 million in matching funds were received from outside sources and went to fund 33 African elephant projects.

New York Educational Funding Request for: Understanding Black Bears – A Wildlife Management Classroom Curriculum

OVERVIEW - Today's educational challenge facing New York wildlife agencies and educators is reshaping the misunderstood perceptions of students about the state's growing black bear population.

To fulfill this wildlife education need, a coalition of over 20 agencies, including New York's DEC, non-profits, wildlife educators, and educational media developers spent years and significant investment creating Understanding Black Bears, a 29-activity classroom curriculum. This curriculum correlates to national educational standards in science, social studies, language arts, environmental education, math, and expressive arts – while teaching about the scientific and responsible management of New York black bears. The content within this educational curriculum supports the concepts of professional, science-based wildlife management. It equips and empowers students to recognize the differences between fictional media animals and real wild animals. They learn how to make science-based decisions on responsible management of wildlife and how to conduct scientific research to dispel misconceptions about wildlife species - with the focus on black bears.

This monumental wildlife education curriculum is already being funded and distributed free to New Jersey teachers through NJ F&W and their Project WILD Coordinator. It was also recently embraced by New York's DEC bear biologists and the agency's Project WILD Coordinator, and is now ready for distribution to New York teachers. However, because of state education budget cuts, the success of shaping wildlife education perceptions in the next generation of citizen hinges on adequate funding to place these classroom kits into the hands of teachers.

An interesting letter in the Australian Shooter Magazine from which I quote:

"If you consider that there has been an average of 160,000 troops in the Iraq theater of operations during the past 22 months, and a total of 2112 deaths, that gives a firearm death rate of 60 per 100,000 soldiers.

"The firearm death rate in Washington, DC is 80.6 per 100,000 for the same period.

That means you are about 25 percent more likely to be shot and killed in the U.S. capital, which has some of the strictest gun control laws in the U.S., than you are in Iraq."

Conclusion: The U.S. should pull out of Washington DC.

Sportsman Club SCI Fun Shoot Enjoyed by All

On August 20 Adirondack Catskill SCI held a fun shotgun shoot at the Oneonta Sportsmans Club on a hot sunny day. I don't recall how many shooters we had, but it was somewhere between 3 and 100 and everyone had fun, every shooter broke clay birds, and nobody walked away hungry. Out of the kindness of our hearts, a few of us tried to convince Don Dubois to sell this old gun he brought. It was really old and made by some company named FOX. I believe the bidding went up to $175 but Don thought he might hold on to it another couple years. As soon as the shooting stopped, Bob Matyas pulled in to join us for Brook's BBQ, throw money at us, and tell stories better than Uncle Remus. You'll have to ask Bob about throwing money, but apparently the Statue of Liberty is on a million dollar bill. Good company makes anything fun.

A HUNTERS PRAYER

LORD, as I step into the meadows and forests today, let me remember that how I act will determine whether or not I have a successful hunt, not size of my game bag.

GIVE me the insight to appreciate the dignity of the wild animals that I pursue. Help me not to degrade that dignity.

GIVE me patience. Patience to tread the trail carefully, leaving behind no evidence of my having passed, patience to wait for my game knowing that it watches no man's clock, and patience to wait for a clear, clean shot if a shot I am to take.

ALLOW me to fully understand the wonder of this ancient act of hunting. A basic personal challenge that I accept willingly knowing that it is not a test of killing, but an evidence of untethered living that is within both myself and the wilderness I pursue.

AND LORD, even if I should return this evening empty handed, let me know that my memory will be full of all the sights and sounds and smells that I have witnessed, and filled with an appreciation and respect for the wild things I have shared with you today.

AMEN
